About Us
The Center for Instructional Supports and Accessible Materials (CISAM) is a statewide project serving students with print disabilities, including students who are blind and visually impaired. CISAM’s mission is to provide free quality accessible educational materials, professional development/learning opportunities, and technical assistance for Ohio’s students with print disabilities including students with visual impairments and their families, educators, and collaborative partners.

CISAM’s vision is to improve the achievement outcomes of Ohio’s students through the timely provision of accessible educational materials and services.

CISAM’s goal is to assist school personnel in locating AEM in a timely manner in alternate formats for eligible Ohio students including: audio, braille, digital text, large print.

CISAM Provides:
• Professional Development: http://cisam.ossb.oh.gov/ProfessionalDevelopment.php
• Technical Assistance: http://cisam.ossb.oh.gov
• Braille Excellence for Students and Teachers (BEST) Grant: http://cisam.ossb.oh.gov/BESTGrant.php

Meet Cooper, a young patient at the Forsythe Center for Comprehensive Vision Care whose family felt hopeless before coming to The Lighthouse. Cooper has multiple disabilities, in addition to being visually impaired since birth. With the help of special glasses and Lighthouse vision rehabilitation services, Cooper is succeeding in daily life and at school.

A disability isn’t a handicap. Discrimination is.

Everyone has the right to fully access and enjoy their home, and persons with disabilities may need special arrangements to live in their rented apartment or house. Housing providers are required to provide reasonable structural or policy changes, which may include installation of ramps or grab bars, allowing assistance animals when pets are not allowed, or creating a reserved parking space. In addition, landlords may not treat individuals with disabilities unfairly by restricting access to common areas, charging additional fees, or segregating individuals from other tenants.

Meet Alex Bodi, a typical teenage boy. He enjoys music, reading, sports and socializing with everyone.

What makes him different from some of his friends? Alex is blind. Alex has been blind since shortly after he was born at 24 weeks gestation. When Alex was born, he was considered to be a micro-preemie. A micro-preemie is a baby that weighs less than 800 grams (1lb 12oz). He weighed 1lb 7ozs. Due to his severe prematurity, Alex developed Retinopathy of Prematurity (R.O.P.). This is an eye condition that happens when blood vessels are not properly formed before birth. When the blood vessels do start to form, they grow so quickly that they can damage the retina. Some cases of R.O.P. will resolve untreated; other cases need surgery to repair the damage. In Alex’s case, the damage caused retinal detachment (blindness).

Alex’s blindness has not slowed him down. He plays baseball for The Miracle League in Northwood Ohio in the Spring and Fall; he participates in Victory Day with The Rockets (The University of Toledo’s football team) in August; he plays soccer and baseball with Rally Cap Sports in Bowling Green, Ohio. He also goes fishing in the spring with our local Lions Club in Swanton, Ohio.

In the summer, Alex loves going to The Toledo Farmers Market in Bowling Green, Ohio. He enjoys an overload of his senses at this place. Where else can we smell the fresh cut flowers and baked goods, not to mention the coffee? The vendors allow us to touch their many different types of fruits and vegetables. If asked, they will even let us sample their produce. Plus we get the benefit of being out in the fresh air. He just loves this place! Most of the vendors know Alex, and even go out of their way to say hello to him.

Our family’s sense of humor helps a lot. The conversations that you have with Alex are really funny. We share jokes, such as, “Mom, did you see that crazy bird that was making all that noise at Maumee Bay?”. I answer “No, I was not paying attention to it”. He says “I didn’t see it either, but it was such an obnoxious little thing”.

Another time Alex said “I wish I could see Nikita, [our German Shepherd], because she has four legs, a big nose, and big teeth. It just sounds goofy looking!”. How can you not laugh?

Alex does not let his blindness define him. He is not angry about it, or sad. It is just the way he is. From a very young age, he has always been happy to be involved with people and go to new places. He loves new experiences. He is a kid that looks forward to life. He loves learning new things every day. He is happily learning his way in the world. Alex is thankful for the gifts he has and does not dwell on his blindness.

So, if you are ever out and about and you see Alex, feel free to stop, introduce yourself and say hello because I can guarantee this kid will make your day!

Facts About Retinopathy of Prematurity

This information was developed by the National Eye Institute to help patients and their families search for general information about retinopathy of prematurity (ROP). An eye care professional who has examined the patient’s eyes and is familiar with his or her medical history is the best person to answer specific questions.

Retinopathy of Prematurity Defined

Retinopathy of prematurity (ROP) is a potentially blinding eye disorder that primarily affects premature infants weighing about 2¾ pounds (1250 grams) or less that are born before 31 weeks of gestation (A full-term pregnancy has a gestation of 38–42 weeks). The smaller a baby is at birth, the more likely he or she will develop ROP. This disorder—which usually develops in both eyes—is one of the most common causes of vision damage in premature infants and can lead to lifelong vision impairment and blindness. ROP was first diagnosed in 1942.

Frequently Asked Questions about Retinopathy of Prematurity

How many infants have retinopathy of prematurity?

Today, with advances in neonatal care, smaller and more premature infants are being saved. These infants are at a much higher risk for ROP. Not all babies who are premature develop ROP. There are approximately 3.9 million infants born in the U.S. each year; of those, about 28,000 weigh 2¾ pounds or less. About 14,000–16,000 of these infants are affected by some degree of ROP. The disease improves and leaves no permanent damage in milder cases of ROP. About 90 percent of all infants with ROP are in the milder category and do not need treatment. However, infants with more severe disease stages may require treatment even blindness. About 1,100–1,500 infants annually develop ROP that is severe enough to require medical treatment. About 400–600 infants each year in the US become legally blind from ROP.

Are there different stages of ROP?

Yes. ROP is classified in five stages, ranging from mild (stage I) to severe (stage V):

- Stage I — Mildly abnormal blood vessel growth. Many children who develop stage I improve with no treatment and eventually develop normal vision. This disease resolves on its own without further progression.
- Stage II — Moderate degree of abnormal blood vessel growth. Many children who develop stage II improve with no treatment and eventually develop normal vision. The disease resolves on its own without further progression.
- Stage III — Severely abnormal blood vessel growth. The abnormal blood vessels grow toward the center of the eye instead of following their normal growth pattern along the surface of the retina. Some infants “who develop stage III improve with no treatment and eventually develop normal vision. However, when infants have a certain degree of Stage III and “plus disease” develops, treatment is considered. “Plus disease” means that the blood vessels of the retina have become enlarged and twisted, indicating a worsening of the disease. Treatment at this point has a good chance of preventing retinal detachment.
- Stage IV — Partially detached retina. Traction from the scar produced by blood vessels can pull the retina away from the wall of the eye.
- Stage V — Completely detached retina and the end stage of the disease. If the eye is left alone at this stage, the baby can have severe visual impairment and even blindness.

Most babies who develop ROP have stages I or II. However, in a small number of babies, ROP worsens, sometimes very rapidly. Untreated ROP threatens to destroy vision.

Can ROP cause other complications?

Infants with ROP are considered to be at higher risk for developing certain eye problems later in life, such as retinal detachment, strabismus (crossed eyes), amblyopia (lazy eye), and glaucoma. In many cases, these eye problems can be treated or controlled.

Causes and Risk Factors

What causes ROP?

ROP occurs when abnormal blood vessels grow and spread throughout the retina, the tissue that lines the back of the eye. These abnormal blood vessels are fragile and can leak, scarring the retina and pulling it out of position. This causes a retinal detachment. Retinal detachment is the main cause of visual impairment and blindness in ROP.

Retinopathy of Prematurity

Several complex factors may be responsible for the development of ROP. In the early 1950s, scientists funded by the National Institutes of Health determined that the relatively high levels of oxygen routinely given to premature infants at that time were an important risk factor, and that reducing the level of oxygen given to premature babies reduced the incidence of ROP. With newer technology and methods to monitor the oxygen levels of infants, oxygen use as a risk factor has diminished in importance.

Although it had been suggested as a factor in the development of ROP, researchers supported by the National Eye Institute determined that lighting levels in hospital nurseries has no effect on the development of ROP.

Treatment

How is ROP treated?

The most effective proven treatments for ROP are laser therapy or cryotherapy. Laser therapy "burns away" the periphery of the retina, which has no normal blood vessels. With cryotherapy, physicians use an instrument that generates freezing temperatures to briefly touch spots on the surface of the eye that overlie the periphery of the retina. Both laser treatment and cryotherapy destroy the peripheral areas of the retina, slowing or reversing the abnormal growth of blood vessels. Unfortunately, the treatments also destroy some side vision. This is done to save the most important part of our sight, the sharp, central vision we need for "straight ahead" activities such as reading, sewing, and driving.

Both laser treatments and cryotherapy are performed only on infants with advanced ROP, particularly stage III with "plus disease." Both treatments are considered invasive surgeries on the eye, and doctors don’t know the long-term side effects of each.

In the later stages of ROP, other treatment options include:

• Scleral buckle. This involves placing a silicone band around the eye and tightening it. This keeps the vitreous gel from pulling on the scar tissue and allows the retina to flatten back down onto the wall of the eye. Infants who have had a scleral buckle need to have the band removed months or years later, since the eye continues to grow; otherwise they will become nearsighted. Sclera buckles are usually performed on infants with stage IV or V.

• Vitrectomy. Vitrectomy involves removing the vitreous and replacing it with a saline solution. After the vitreous has been removed, the scar tissue on the retina can be peeled back or cut away, allowing the retina to relax and lay back down against the eye wall. Vitrectomy is performed only at stage V.

What happens if treatment does not work?

While ROP treatment decreases the chances for vision loss, it does not always prevent it. If treatment for ROP does not work, a retinal detachment may develop. Often, only part of the retina detaches (stage IV). When this happens, no further treatments may be needed, since a partial detachment may remain the same or go away without treatment. However, in some instances, physicians may recommend treatment to try to prevent further advancement of the retinal detachment (stage V). If the center of the retina or the "fovea" detaches, central vision is threatened, and surgery may be recommended to reattach the retina.
Now is the time eligible older adults can receive $175 to help with their heating bill costs through the Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP). Single-member households with an income of $20,597.50 or less and two-person households with an income of $27,877.50 are eligible to apply. Older adults may get a HEAP application by contacting the Area Office on Aging at 419-382-0624.

Many people who are eligible for HEAP are also eligible for another program to help stay warm. By checking a box on the HEAP application, people can get information about the Home Weatherization Assistance Program.

Call the Area Office on Aging at 419-382-0624 for more details.

More than a summer camp
OUB Camps are fantastic opportunities for children with blindness or low vision to learn, grow and thrive. Our camps provide outdoor educational experiences and job training where kids and staff with visual impairments can participate in all of the usual camping activities like campfires, boating, swimming and hiking. While learning skills like cooking, that will help them prepare for a lifetime of independence and success.

At OUB Camps, children and adults learn:
- Social Skills
- Cooking
- Mobility
- Gardening
- Science
- Nature
- Self-reliance
- Self-confidence
- Blindness is not a barrier, just an obstacle!

Who can attend?
Any child age 7-19 who is blind or has low vision that interferes with their living, learning and social interaction is welcome to attend OUB Camps.

Ten years ago, on March 21, 2006, the CEO of Twitter sent out his first tweet. It’s appropriate, with spring coming, that the famous CEO was chirping in a format that the world now embraces as a vital form of interactive communication. Similarly, Social Security is no stranger to social media. Updated regularly, Social Security Matters is our blog. It’s our hub for Social Security news, like new features to my Social Security, changes in policy, retirement planning, and benefit information. The blog allows us to address issues in a longer format than a tweet or typical social media post. Check out Social Security Matters at blog.socialsecurity.gov and select “Get blog updates” if you want to stay informed.

Social Security uses social media just like you might. At www.facebook.com/socialsecurity we share information, post programmatic changes, and answer questions you need to know. You can follow us and get regular updates on your computer or smartphone through Facebook. While you’re at it, go and “like” a few posts or “share” them with friends and loved ones. Even though there’s a lot to say when it comes to retirement benefits and Medicare or disability, Social Security is great at conveying messages in 140 characters. Our Twitter account is a valuable resource for news and updates. You can follow what we’re up to at twitter.com/socialsecurity. Is all this on-screen reading making your eyes tired? Well, you can visit our YouTube page for fun and informative videos. In the past, we’ve had celebrities appear in our public service announcements. And you can still find feline stars in some of our most popular videos. Visit www.youtube.com/socialsecurityonline to start watching. Remember, you can always share our social media pages with friends and family. They will be grateful to know about the many online services we provide. Feel free to send us a tweet and connect with Social Security!

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

GENERAL

Question: Do I need a Social Security card? I want to get a summer job and my dad can’t find my card.

Answer: If you know your number, you probably don’t need to get another card. If you find out that you do need a replacement card, the best place to go to find out how to get a replacement is www.socialsecurity.gov/ssnumber. In some states and the District of Columbia, you might even be able to request a replacement Social Security card online. In other areas, you can download the application to print out, complete, and submit by mail or in person. If you do get a replacement card or find the original, you shouldn’t carry it with you. Keep it in a safe place with your other important papers. Learn more at www.socialsecurity.gov/safesec.

Question: Can I get a new Social Security number if someone has stolen my identity?

Answer: We don’t routinely assign a new number to someone whose identity has been stolen. Only as a last resort should you consider requesting a new Social Security number. Changing your number may adversely affect your ability to interact with Federal and State agencies, employers, and others. This is because your financial, medical, employment and other records will be linked to your former Social Security number. We cannot guarantee that a new number will solve your problem. To learn more about your Social Security card and number, read our online publication Your Social Security Number and Card at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs/pdf/10011.pdf.

RETIREMENT

Question: I just got back from an overseas military deployment and I want to plan ahead. How will my military retirement affect my Social Security benefits?

Answer: Your military retirement won’t affect your Social Security benefits at all. You can get both. Generally, there is no offset of Social Security benefits because of your military retirement. You will get full Social Security benefits based on your earnings. The only way your Social Security benefit might be reduced is if you also receive a government pension based on a job in which you did not pay Social Security taxes. You can find more information in the publication Military Service and Social Security at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs/10017.html. Or call us at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778).

Question: I’m retiring early, at age 62, and I receive investment income from a rental property I own. Does investment income count as earnings?

Answer: No. We count only the investment income you earn from a job or your net profit if you’re self-employed. Non-work income such as annuities, investment income, rental income, and other government benefits are not counted and will not affect your Social Security benefits. Most pensions will not affect your benefits. However, your benefit may be affected by government pension or wages you earn from a job; also, the amount of earnings subject to Social Security tax. You can retire online at www.socialsecurity.gov. For more information, call us toll-free at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778).

DISABILITY

Question: I was turned down for disability. Do I need a lawyer to appeal?

Answer: You’re entitled to an attorney if you wish to, but it is not necessary. And, you can appeal Social Security disability online without a lawyer. Our online appeal process is convenient and secure. Just go to www.socialsecurity.gov/disability/appeal. If you prefer, call us at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778) to schedule an appointment to visit your local Social Security office to appeal.

Question: It’s hard for me to get around because of my disability. Do I have to go to Social Security office to apply for benefits?

Answer: Not anymore. You can prepare and submit your Social Security disability application and all the needed forms right over the Internet. Our online disability application is convenient and secure. When you decide to apply, begin by taking a look at our Disability Starter Kit at www.socialsecurity.gov/disability.

SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME

Question: My brother has been completely disabled from birth. He gets Supplemental Security Income (SSI). Our father recently and left him a little money. Will this extra money stop his SSI benefits?

Answer: It all depends on the amount of the inheritance. Inheritance money is considered income for the month he received it. So, if you or your brother put this money into the next month, it will become a part of his resources. To get SSI benefits, he is limited to $2,000 in total resources, and we will adjust his benefit for the month accordingly. If he keeps the money into the next month, it then becomes a part of his resources. To get SSI benefits, he is limited to $2,000 in total resources, although there are exceptions. Call Social Security at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778) and report the inheritance. We’ll tell you how your brother’s eligibility will be affected. For more information, visit our website at www.socialsecurity.gov.

Question: My dad receives Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits. He soon will be coming to live with my brother. The change could affect his benefit. Failure to report the change could result in a penalty being deducted from his SSI payment. Do I have to go to the Social Security office to report the change?

Answer: Yes. He should report to us within 10 days any change in his situation that might affect his benefit. The change could affect his benefit. Failure to report the change could result in a penalty being deducted from his SSI payment. Do I have to go to the Social Security office to report the change?

Question: I’m retiring early, at age 62, and I receive investment income from a rental property I own. Does investment income count as earnings?

MEDICARE

Question: Should I sign up for Medicare Part B if I am working and have health insurance through my employer?

Answer: Choosing to sign up for Medicare is an important decision that involves a number of factors you may need to consider. The decision you make will depend on your situation and the type of health insurance you have. You may be able to delay signing up for Medicare Part B without a late enrollment penalty if you have employer health insurance through an employer or union benefits administered through an employer, or if you or your spouse (or a family member, if you’re disabled) is working, and you’re getting health insurance benefits based on current employment. In many cases, you don’t sign up for Part B when you’re first eligible, you’ll have to pay a late enrollment penalty for as long as you have Part B. Also, you may have to wait until the General Enrollment Period (from January 1 to March 31) to enroll in Part B, and coverage will start July 1 of that year.

Find out how your coverage works with Medicare at www.medicare.gov or contact your employer or union benefits administrator.

Sherry Smith

Then there is Sherry Smith (56), who has end-stage glaucoma, which has changed her life. A client of the Cincinnati Association for the Blind and Visually Impaired (CABVI). Smith can no longer work or help care for her mother. She’s been successful at learning new skills such as walking with a white cane and using adaptive equipment for daily living skills. Smith will likely lose more of her vision as the disease progresses, and wants to continue to be able to read, remaining as independent as possible. She currently uses a special magnifying glass, but it has limitations.

A DaVinci electronic magnifier would help her now and as her eyes grow weaker, as it reads printed text out loud. The DaVinci was delivered to Sherry Smith last week and her wish came true.

Coming Soon... 2016 Summer Work and Learn

The Ohio State School for the Blind is pleased to announce we are preparing for the 2016 Summer Work and Learn Program. This year the program will run from Sunday June 5, 2016 to Friday July 1, 2016. Summer Work and Learn Camp will be a 4 week period with all weeks beginning on Sunday evening and ending on Friday afternoon. Student applications will be available January 8, 2016 on the OSSB website.

In addition to the traditional 18-21 year old camp for vocational internships, OSSB will also be offering a 2 week Career Exploration Camp. June 5, 2016 to June 17, 2016. Career Exploration Camp will offer a variety of vocational settings for students ages 14-17 years old. Students discover knowledge about different types of employment as well as independent living skills, technology skills, O&M, money management and social skills needed to succeed in a work environment.

Project SEARCH for the upcoming 2016-17 school year

We are excited to announce Project SEARCH for the upcoming 2016-17 school year. Project SEARCH is a one-year, high school transition program, which provides training and education leading to employment for individuals with disabilities. This program will occur on-site within the host business, COSI, The Center for Science and Industry. Each student applies to the program and is accepted through a selection committee process. All students must be eligible for services with the Opportunities for Ohioans with Disabilities to participate and have earned all their academic credits necessary to graduate. The application deadline is January 29, 2016. Please click on the following links for information and the application. For further information please contact Cathern King at cking@ossb.oh.gov or (614) 468-8877.

Join us for ‘Oh, The Places You’ll Go!’ this summer at Canter’s Cave!

Ohio State University Extension proudly offers this camp for individuals with multiple handicaps ages 8-18. This camp will be held at the Elizabeth L. Evans Outdoor Education Center/Canter’s Cave 4-H Camp near Jackson, Ohio. Each camper will need to be accompanied by a caregiver.

- When: June 17-19, 2016
- Check-in time: 5:00-5:30 pm on Friday, June 17 at the main lodge.
- Check-out time: 11:30 a.m. Sunday, June 19.
- Youth fee: $80.00.
- Caregiver fee: $45.00 for the camp.
- Return registration forms to Meigs County Extension Office by June 2, 2016

Camp Location
Camp is at the Elizabeth L. Evans Outdoor Education Center - Canter’s Cave 4-H Camp. Camp is located on Caves Road off S.R. 35 about 7 miles West of Jackson. There is a green Canters Cave 4-H Sign along the road just before you turn right on Caves Road.

Camp Activities
Youth are invited to participate in swimming, fishing, swings, boating, archery, and horseback riding. Accommodations are available for these activities. The weekend agenda also includes music therapy, science, arts and crafts, parachute games and more. Children and caregivers are free to participate at their own pace and choosing.

Toledo Public Schools and Partners In Education have brought together community resources and leaders to offer FREE classes on a variety of topics. Sample topics include Healthy Cooking, Standardized Testing, Preparing for College and Career, Parent Leadership and much more. Childcare and transportation will always be provided for these 1 to 2 hour classes held across Toledo.

As parents and guardians explore the class offerings, they should know that these classes are not meant to teach them how to parent, but rather, to support and celebrate the incredible job they are doing raising their children. They can choose to attend some or all of the many classes or they may even enroll in a series of classes. Visit tps.org to learn more or contact Maddi at 419-242-2122.
